Overview

Effective and secure communication is imperative for the growth of any organization. Instant Messaging is the most preferred communication tool for managers and employees in today's digitally connected enterprises. The business challenge is in implementing an Instant Messaging solution that is both productive and secure.

C-Cube offers an enterprise grade Secure Instant Messaging solution for effective communication, collaboration and community building in the corporate enterprise for your employees, partners & customers.

C-Cube allows you to communicate via instant messaging from your PC, between one or more approved personnel over a secure communications layer within your company Intranet or over the Internet across multiple locations. With C-Cube, the chat conversations are only between authorized personnel and data security is assured across regular chat, conference chat, screen capture or file transfer.

C-Cube brings tremendous value to your extended enterprise of employees, suppliers and customers in numerous application scenarios such as:

- An integral part of internal communication strategy
- Encourage collaboration within authorized employee groups
- A touch-point on each desktop to broadcast company messages

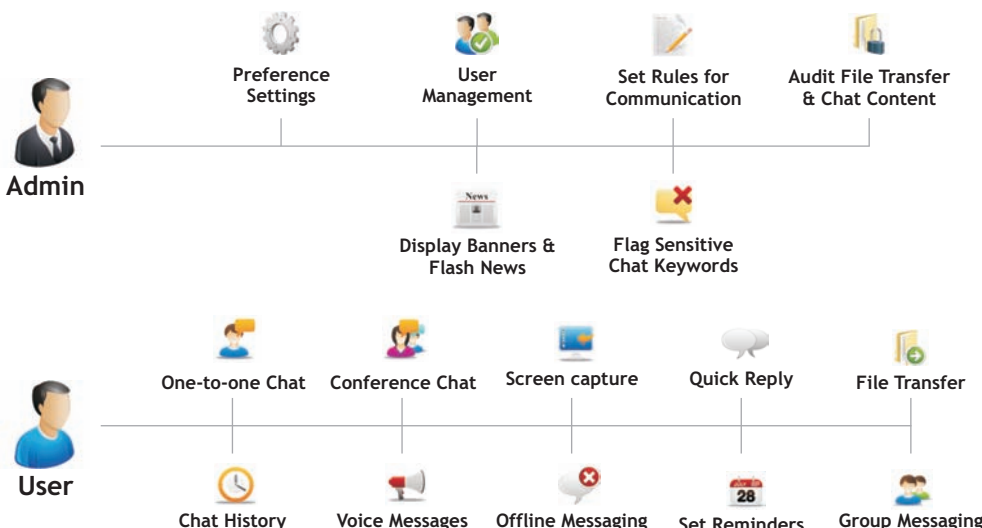

Benefits

- Secure Instant Messaging
- Better intra-company collaboration
- Reduced operational costs
- Improved communication without productivity loss

Applications

- Medium to Large Businesses
- Connect with Suppliers & Customers
- Pre sales, Help desk & Support
- Effectively complementing traditional email & phone
